The Nevada Assembly Republican Caucus Endorses Incumbents & Challengers in Assembly Races

[Las Vegas, NV] — The Nevada Assembly Republican Caucus announced its endorsements of the following incumbent members running for re-election: Brian Hibbetts, Blayne Osborn, Melissa Hardy, Gregory Hafen, Jason Patchett, Alexis Hansen, Gregory Koenig, Rich DeLong, Jill Dickman, Bert Gurr, Lisa Cole, and Rebecca Edgeworth.

“The Assembly Republican Caucus is championing issues that will bring greater prosperity, safety, and common-sense policies to our state, and we are excited that so many members of our current team will be returning to Carson City,” said Gregory Hafen, Assembly Republican Caucus Leader.

The Republican Caucus also announced that it will endorse four challengers in its first round of endorsements of non-incumbents: Drew Teitelbaum in AD 2, Nan Roecker in AD 12, Denise Daniels Fanning in AD 23 and Jill Douglass in AD 37.

“All four are strong candidates and exceptional people, with the discipline, commitment, and experience to represent their districts and support our agenda. We are excited to endorse them.”

The Nevada Assembly Republican Caucus remains committed to making Nevada the best place in the country to raise a family by increasing quality of life and decreasing costs for Nevada families.

The Assembly Republican Caucus anticipates making additional endorsements of Republican challengers in Assembly races in the future.
